Fashion show a big success

Fashion is alive and well in Elk Point. That point became more abundantly clear with each model's trip down the runway last Saturday evening, as the Elk Point Skating Club presented their first-ever Ladies Fashion Show.

Clothing for the whole family, from tots to grandparents, was temptingly displayed in the four hour show. Desiree Maas proudly showed off her "Kids Only" lines for moms and youngsters from tots to teens. Cathy Lindquist's Leigh Morgan spring collection and the array of "Stripes" children's wear was equally well received, as were the fashions from Stedmans, commentated by Michelle Zarowny, In Days of Olde, described by Kathy Lovell, and Kelly's Closet, shown by Sherry Oszust.

Entertainment by local vocalist Pam Jaybush, and numerous prize draws helped to make the evening a success.

SPRING FASHIONS FOR THE FAMILY were colorfully displayed at the Elk Point Skating Club's Ladies Fashion Show. Peggy Anderson was the lucky winner of the diamond ring, while Myrna Fedorus won the portable stereo.

Town Council careful with their pennies

Elk Point Town Council was praised by auditor Barb McCarthy for being "very careful with your pennies" at last Monday's regular meeting, when she presented the 1997 auditor's report. The Town's reserves are growing, enabling Council to plan for future projects, and the report shows the Town to be in good financial shape.

Council met with two other delegations at the meeting. Donna Zapesocki spoke on behalf of the Elk Point Soccer Club, asking the Town's cooperation in preparing the area for the sport's upcoming season, while Glenn Harms spoke on behalf of a potential developer hoping to build a new motel. Council's executive committee will meet with Harms and the interested party to work out further details of the land negotiations.

Council gave all three readings to a bylaw to establish 911 emergency service in Elk Point. Elk Point is "in the lineup" for installation of the service, which could come as soon as May.

All three readings were also given to a Council procedural bylaw which rescinds a previous bylaw and allows the reorganization of the Council agenda, moving new business up to early part in the meeting.

A rezoning bylaw, changing a parcel of commercial property along Railway Avenue to permit industrial use, was given first reading and now will be advertised to determine if there are any objections prior to being given the other two readings.

Council discussed a substantial increase to the refundable damage deposits on development permits as the current deposits, of $100 for residential developments and $500 for industrial and commercial developments, are not sufficient. Fees of $1000 and $1500 were suggested.

Council has received a request from the owners of the Hilltop Motel to locate portable motel units on their site to increase accommodation. Council agreed they would need more information before considering the matter.

The price of industrial lots on 45 Street was debated at length, with Council agreeing to sell them at the full price of undeveloped land, with a frontage fee to be paid when the lots are serviced, with an option of paying the frontage over five years at 7 1/4 percent. Water and sewer lines and street access would be installed when five lots are sold. Town Manager Curt Svendsen was authorized to take 20 percent deposits on the lots, which would be returned if development does not take place. Balance of the price would be due on the commencement of development.

Two donations were approved by Council, $500 each to the Friends of the Forts and to the Canada Day Committee.

Council ratified the appointment of Manon Joice to the Elk Point Library Board.

Town Clean-up Week has been set for May 20 to 24.

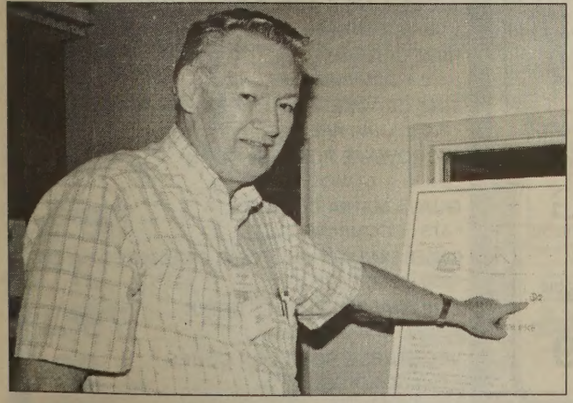
Pipeline proposed for Lindbergh area

Another crude oil pipeline could soon cross the Lindbergh area. AEC Pipelines, a division of the Alberta Energy Company, held an open house at the Windsor Club last week to outline plans for the 24 inch line which would stretch from Fort McMurray to Hardisty, and cross this area just east of Lindbergh.

A series of topographical maps of the area were on display at the open house, permitting residents to see where the line may be located.

A second pipeline, carrying diluent from the AEC terminal at LaCorey to Fort McMurray, would run in the same right of way on the north segment of the line. The crude oil line would also be connected into an existing pipeline running from LaCorey to Edmonton, so oil could be delivered to either Edmonton or Hardisty. Initial capacity of the oil pipeline is approximately 100,000 barrels per day.

Route selection for the line is currently underway, as are the preliminary design and environmental assessment. The open house is part of an ongoing public consultation which will last the length of the project. Construction of the line would be in two phases, with the northern portion constructed next winter and the balance in the summer of 1998, for completion that fall.



THE PIPE GOES HERE -- Ken Jenner of AEC Pipelines describes the process of laying a dual pipeline, which will be undertaken in the northern portion of the planned line from Fort McMurray to Hardisty.

TIC will operate as usual

Elk Point's Tourist Information Centre will be back in business in early June, in the same familiar spot. An 11-week summer employment grant has been approved, and tourist information is already being received from across Canada as well as around Alberta.

The Chamber has joined both the Heart of the Lakeland Marketing Association and the Midwest Tourism Group, and will be obtaining information through both associations. Heart of the Lakeland's new "Fairs, Festivals and Fun" guide is hot off the press and has a large section on Elk Point and area.

Fair planning a sign of spring

By Irene Magnusson
Review contributor

Just a few days of the good old sun, and a smidgin of bare earth can bring out spring and summer thoughts in the most of us — and what can be more springlike than the annual Agricultural Fair?

Again, Elk Point and district will host a summer Fair.

The date for 1997 will be August 15 and 16, as usual, entries will be received on Friday, August 15 from 12:00 noon to 3:30 p.m., while the viewing will be from 2:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 16. Prizes will be awarded on Saturday at 7:00 p.m.

All of this is almost as usual: the big change will be that the Fair will be held in the A. G. Ross Arena this year, NOT at the Seniors' Centre, as in the past few years.

It's a bit early to be thinking of flowers, fruits and vegetables, but certainly not too early to be into Crafts, Sewing, Art, Photography, Writing or Woodwork. The snow is still hanging around, too early to rake the grass, but just right to do those 'indoor' activities that make such interesting displays at the Fair.

The new Fair Books will be available soon, with all the details you will need, but don't let hat hold you up. Now is the time to "Get Crafty!"

From the FCSS desk...

April 22 is Earth Day!

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Happy Special Day, Mother Earth! This is the day proclaimed just for you, which gives us all time to reflect on how important you are to us.

Your day comes in the Spring of the year. Spring 1997 is the season we have all been waiting for with joyful hearts. It is nice to see what was under the blanket of white snow that the winter season kept you covered with for so long. With the snow melting, we have seen much water covering the earth in places.

Yes, our earth is a fascinating place with all the changing seasons. There is always something hew and different to enjoy.

Spring is also the time of year that our farmers and gardeners think of planting seeds. Thus your special day comes at a time when mankind is being rejuvenated with feelings of faith and hope. We look forward to the seasons of growth in the summer and to the season of harvest in the fall. Then the season of winter comes again when the earth rests from its labors of giving to mankind.

Since the earth gives to mankind, I hope that all of us will look upon this gift with gratitude by showing respect and treating our Mother Earth with the kindness she deserves.

We have developed in our culture, the concept of Spring Cleaning, Our homes look and smell so nice when they are "spring cleaned." Let us look at our outdoors and spring clean our mother earth. We can pick up all the garbage that has been thrown around and we can commit ourselves to keeping our mother earth healthy. I know she will appreciate it.

Happy Earth Day, Mother Earth!

Sky Watch

By Lois Ramer

After reading a 10-page printout from the Internet regarding the Comet Hale-Bopp, magnetic fields and Coronal Mass Ejections (CMEs) one could easily look out and up and say "hey, anything can happen out there today," which is precisely what this writer did.

Before explaining (trying, at least) CMEs, proper credit is due the owner and photographer of the accompanying photo of none other than our universe's centre of attention... Comet Hale-Bopp. Jonathan Adams of Elk Point, amateur astronomer and astrophotographer, supplied us with this magnificent shot of the comet. Escaping from the glare of street and home lights, Jonathan set up his equipment near the Elk Point Golf Course on March 26 at 10:00 p.m. His 'setup' included a Pentax LK camera, using a Tamron 28-300mm lens piggybacked onto a guided telescope with a motor drive. With f-stop at 4, a 7 minute exposure, Kodak Gold 400 ISO (the speed of the film), his eyes and gear facing WNW, and a click; this is the result. The constellation Cassiopeia is located to the upper right of the comet and the tail stars of Andromeda are below the comet.

A small suggestion: if you want time to pass quickly while this astronomer is working on your teeth, just ask him about his hobby. And thank you, Jonathan, for the photo!

To those of you with a tad less elaborate setup than described above, you can produce a very awesome photo of Hale-Bopp to submit to the Review office for display. Perhaps you just need a tripod and a cable extension for the camera. And do give me a call if you need more assistance. Mr HB is still very visible in the WNW 1 - 1 1/2 hr. after sunset. Full moon shine, April 22 will interfere to some degree with the brightness of the comet so as the full moon decreases to last quarter (April 29) a better shot of the comet can be taken... barring those cloud covers. Don't be discouraged, though; if it's cloudy at 6:00 p.m., by 10:00 p.m. the sky can be perfectly clear. And oh, this wonderful spring time is inspiring us to begin those deck, star/comet, etc. parties!

OK, back to CMEs... Coronal Mass Ejection. This is a quote from the Los Alamos, New Mexico research project that explains just a few basics of CMEs:

"CMRs are clouds of hot (1-2 million degrees) ["magnetic plasma"] gases ejected from the sun at extremely high speeds (from several hundreds to 2000 km per second). After acceleration at the sun, they travel through interplanetary space and reach Earth in 2.5 to 5 days. When they reach the Earth, CMEs cause disturbances in the magnetosphere, which trigger auroras (Northern Lights), make magnetic navigation at high latitudes difficult, and sometimes cause current spikes in high-voltage power lines, resulting in power outages and occasionally in destruction of power equipment. They also can damage or destroy Earth-orbiting satellites."

The following is a quote from December 1996 Earth magazine:

"Earth's cagelike magnetic field surrounds the entire planet, protecting us from the solar wind. 'The solar wind flows around the Earth's magnetic field like river water over a rock,' says Jo Ann Joselyn, a scientist with the NOAA. But when an intense solar event occurs, the sun ejects a mass of charged particles (CMEs) that can collide with Earth's magnetic fields.

The mass has its own magnetic field, which reacts with our planet's magnetic field the same way that two bar magnets react to each other. Opposite fields attract, identical fields repel.

So if a mass of particles with a magnetic field opposite from the earth's encounters our planet, the mass will be attracted to the Earth's magnetic field.. When this happens, charged particles accelerate and spiral down Earth's magnetic field lines, creating a geomagnetic storm. Sometimes the particles collide with gas molecules in the atmosphere and excite them to give off the light known as the aurora.

When geomagnetic storms occur, they cause fluctuations in Earth's magnetic field that generates currents. These currents run over Earth's surface and for the most part, pose no threat to humans. But the currents tend to travel by routes with the least resistance, hitching rides on train lines, pipelines and electrical power lines."

Oops, there just went our electrical power! Who or what collided out there that has disturbed the current flow to my phone, and desk light?! Anything can happen. This quote is inspiring: "Expect the unexpected and do savour the moment." The travel and conversations in the East were the best ever, yet it is also best to be back in Alberta, home soil, where the stars and planets are brighter, the comet higher (difference in latitude) and the Aurora once again dancing around us.

Diet for a healthy heart

By Shelley Miller-Hertes
Registered Dietician, Elk Point Health Centre

Many people today are being diagnosed with high cholesterol levels or hypercholesterolemia. For people over 30 years of age, anyone with a cholesterol level above 5.2 mml /L is considered high.

What can you do about it? Follow a heart healthy diet and get plenty of exercise. A heart healthy diet consists of a total fat intake of less than 30% of the total energy intake. Often by decreasing your fat intake, you decrease your calorie intake, and this may help you lose weight.

Here are some examples of fat reduction:

1. Choose 1% or skim milk instead of 2% or whole milk.

2. Choose cheese made from skim milk or partly skimmed milk (15% M.F. or less) instead of regular fat cheese (eg. cheddar, Parmesan, cream cheese).

3. Avoid croissants, sweet rolls, pastry, doughnuts; serve rolls, bagels, pita bread, English muffins, rice cakes, saltines and melba toast instead.

4. Limit meat, fish and poultry to 4 - 6 oz. per day. This is generally 3 oz. twice a day; 3 oz. is the size of a deck of cards or the palm of your hand.

5. Avoid high fat processed meats like bologna, salami, wieners and sausage, but pastrami, ham and lowfat wieners are okay once in a while.

6. Cream soups are much higher in fat than broth-type soups. If you like cream soups, make them with skim milk.

7. For desserts, your best bets are fruit, gelatin desserts, puddings made with skim milk, sherbet, ice milk, arrowroots, angel food cake and graham wafers.

8. For snacks, plain popcorn, pretzels, lowfat cereals and crackers, and fresh fruits and vegetables are your best bet.

Happy, healthy eating!

Dealing with farm losses

If you are involved in the business of farming you probably already know that large variations in net income can result from the annual activities of the farming operation. Unfortunately these fluctuations in income are often difficult to predict and become obvious only when the profit and loss statement is being prepared.

One method of stabilizing that income from year to year is by the use of the "optional inventory provision". This provision allows us to increase the farm income in a low income year and then claim this same amount as an expense the following year. Other advantages of using this program is that an increase in income may allow us to use personal amounts which may otherwise be lost or an increase in farm income may allow for a contribution to the "Canada Pension Plan".

If a loss has occurred and the "optional inventory provisions" are not used, there are special rules that should be considered which may restrict the amount of loss that can be claimed. To determine how the farm loss should be treated, it is necessary to determine which category best describes the farming operation.

There are three farm categories that determine the amount of losses that can be claimed. The first category consists of farmers for whom farming is the primary occupation and chief source of income. The second category consists of farmers that farming is treated as a sideline business rather than a primary source of livelihood. The third group consists of farmers who carry on farming as a hobby or recreational activity . As a hobby farm, losses are not deductible.

If farming is your chief source of livelihood and the center of your work routine, then, even though you supplement your income from other sources, you may be able to deduct your losses in full. However, if farming is a sideline business, only a portion of any losses that you incurred would be deductible against other sources of income.

This determination should be made each year in which you incur a farming loss. As your circumstances change, the deductibility of the losses can change also.

F. G. Miller news update

By Robyn Danyluk
FGM Student Journalist

With spring in the air and only 45 school days left in the year, students' hearts at F. G. Miller are beginning to race with excitement. Dreams of summer holidays are common visions of the students and teachers. Unfortunately, with the glories of the end of the year, the students are looking down a road full of hard work and many hours of studying to prepare for exams.

The Class of 1997 is trying to concentrate on their studies as their BIG day draws near. The class will be participating in "Highway Clean-up" on May 3 as part of their fundraising. The Class of 1997 ceremonies will be held on Saturday, May 17, 1997 at 7:00 p.m. at the F. G. Miller High School followed by a dance at the A. G. Ross Arena. Congratulations to all graduates.

The senior high badminton team attended County championships in St. Paul April 16, 1997. Jeff Faithful was the star Crusader of the day. Jeff won the silver medal in the Intermediate Boys Single division and has the opportunity to advance to Zones. Unfortunately, no other medals were won by Crusaders. Although they did not win on the courts they all won in their hearts and had a great time!

On April 11 the Crusader handball team headed to St Albert and competed in a two day tournament. "Everyone played their hardest. With a tough struggle, we won our first game, and beat Mayerthorpe easily in our second game of the day," reported head coach Dennell Anderson. In Miller's third game they lost by one point. "We were up by four points but because of their unexpected plan of man to man defence, we lost." The team will be attending Provincials at Jasper Place in Edmonton April 19. "It looks like we have a very good chance of doing well at Provincials. Maybe we'll even bring home the banner," stated Raegan Croteau, a three year veteran. Good luck to the team.

Fastball season is fast approaching and is the next sport lined up for F. G. Miller.

Ball leagues ready to go

By Doug Bassett
Sports reporter

Well, how about those Oilers! It sure doesn't look like they are ready to join my Leafs and the Flames on the golf tour just yet! Canthey do it, knock off the Stars of Texas? With one of my brothers living in Dallas I couldn't resist calling him last week and making a small wager on the series. Winning two big games this past weekend is it possible that the Oil is this year's dark horse and can pull off the biggest upset in the first round?

In the only local sports action this week, the senior girls handball team, with a good effort, were defeated, after making it to the semi finals in provincials held in Edmonton. Good job, girls.

And now that the ball diamonds are clear, we turn to the baseball news. The Lakeland league and North East Midget league both had their first meetings last week. The first pitch for the season is slated for the first week of May, and as always the first few weeks may be very cool and wet for the youngsters. With short days in May and such a short season, it can be very hectic for everyone involved. In the Lakeland league where a majority of our teams play, plans are in place to experiment with a few weekend mini-round-robins. This format was very successful in the midget league last year. The host team and two teams from out of town play a double header on a Saturday or Sunday. This format can cut down the travel and makes the games more enjoyable With the large number of teams, the league will be split into north and south in some divisions. The windup tournaments are planned for the June 21 weekend.

This coming Thursday, Elk Point Minor Ball will hold a coaches and general meeting at the Pan Canadian office. On the agenda will be selection of coaches and dividing of teams where necessary. This year, as always, volunteers are needed at all levels. Everyone is welcome, and even if it is not always convenient, please try to attend.

The staff and students of F.G. Miller Jr./Sr. High School would like to extend their thanks to all the Career Speakers who travelled from as far as Edmonton in order to give the Crusaders an opportunity to look into the choices open to them in ever-changing world of work. SPRAYED-ON BED LINERS RISING IN POPULARITY

New truck dealers across the country have noted the increasing popularity of truck bed liners and with new truck owners sprayed-on bed liners are the liner of choice. ArmorThane Coating's Tough Stuff™ is proving to be the most popular. Tough Stuff*™ is a sprayed-on polyurethane product that is applied directly to the truck box. It bonds directly to the metal, providing a seal against moisture and most chemicals. It flexes with the movement of your truck and will never crack even under the most extreme weather conditions. In addition, its slip-resistant surface ensures that loads will not shift and provides good traction even when covered with snow.

What's news at the library?

Spring has sprung... a leak!

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

As I remarked to a patron last week, "Spring has sprung... a leak!" Mud is being tracked everywhere and parents of small children are learning the joys of puddles and the havoc they can wreak on a child's wardrobe. Here at the library our thoughts are looking ahead to the summer and READiscover, our summer reading program. The first batch of program materials prepared by Northern Lights Library System has arrived and so has a lot of books for children with science themes. Here are the highlights:

Recipes for Art and Craft Materials by Helen Roney Sattler gives you inventive recipes for making inexpensive materials for art and craft projects.

Super Nifty Origami Crafts by Andrea Urton has exactly what the title says, nifty crafts using origami. Very colorful and lots of fun.

Draw 50 Animals by Lee J. Ames takes you step by step through the process of drawing animal figures. A good addition to our drawing collection.

Too Many Rabbits and Other Fingerplays by Kay Cooper is a collection of fingerplays about nature, animals, weather and the Universe.

Silly Science by Shar Levine and Leslie Johnstone contains experiments guaranteed to make you giggle and teach you about science at the same time.

Ms. Frizzle and the class take a trip to the bottom of the ocean in The Magic School Bus on the Ocean Floor by Joanna Cole and Bruce Degen.

The Young Oxford Book of Astronomy by Simon and Jacqueline Mitton is your guide to what is in the sky.

Light Magic and Other Science Activities About Energy by Trudy Rising and Peter Williams explains what energy is with several hands-on activities.

Creepy Cookies by Tina Vilicich-Solomon is a collection of repulsive recipes for ghastly goodies that look gruesome but taste great.

Rocket Science by Jim Wiese contains all sorts of flying gadgets that kids can make themselves.

I and several members of the library board will be attending the Alberta Library Conference at the Jasper Park Lodge this weekend, so there will be no storytime on April 25. Keep an eye out in the next couple of weeks for my Top Ten List of "Things I Liked About the Conference This Year."
